ADMINISTRATION§ 112.21. Responsible agency.

Intermediate units are hereby designated as the responsible public agencies for providing services and the assignment of personnel to provide auxiliary services to children in the nonpublic schools within the geographic boundaries of the intermediate units.

§ 112.22. Consolidation.

Two or more intermediate units may, through articles of agreement duly approved by the Secretary, designate one intermediate unit as the unit to administer the delivery of some or all services provided in this chapter for the benefit of all children attending nonpublic schools located within the geographical boundaries of such intermediate units.

§ 112.23. Eligibility.

Any student, who is a resident of this Commonwealth, and whose tuition is not paid by the Commonwealth, is eligible to receive auxiliary services under this chapter if enrolled in grades K-12 inclusive in a nonpublic school.

§ 112.24. Program of services.

(a) Each intermediate unit shall establish a program for nonpublic school students consisting of those auxiliary services which are provided to public school students within the school district in which the nonpublic school is located.

(b) Those auxiliary services provided to public school students by the intermediate units or school districts, or both, by means of State or local revenues, during the school year 1974-75, shall continue to be provided for the benefit of public or nonpublic school students. This provision in no way prevents a school district from curtailing such services in that public school district or within their own schools as it may deem necessary.

(c) No school district shall be required to offer auxiliary services provided by any other school district within such intermediate unit.

§ 112.25. Determination and provision of services.

(2) The intermediate unit shall then ascertain the needs of the eligible nonpublic school students for the particular auxiliary services contained in the list. It is recognized that auxiliary services, by their nature, relate to individual child needs and that the accurate assessment of these needs can only be made through consultation with persons having charge of the child in the normal learning environment of the child.

(3) The intermediate unit shall also determine which auxiliary services on the list may be provided within the legal limitations of Act 89.

(4) The provision of services means the delivery of auxiliary services to students through the providing of qualified personnel, whether through the use of staff members of the intermediate unit, or through the intermediate unit's contracting with other agencies or individuals, but not the staff of the nonpublic schools. The supplying of supportive personnel, materials, and equipment is permissible when necessary for the proper delivery of auxiliary services by qualified personnel.

§ 112.26. Facilities.

(a) Auxiliary services may be provided only in the following:

(6) Other appropriate areas, excluding churches, synagogues, or areas under the control thereof or facilities under the control of a sectarian school.

(b) The provisions of this section shall not be interpreted to prohibit the intermingling of public and nonpublic school students where services are rendered to groups of students.

§ 112.27. Transportation.

Intermediate units shall be responsible for providing student transportation whenever the necessity arises. Costs incurred for transportation shall be charged against the Act 89 program budget.

§ 112.28. Personnel.

(b) The program budget shall set forth a program under which funds allocated to the intermediate units under §§ 112.29 and 112.30 (relating to allocation of funds and distribution of funds) will be expended solely for purposes authorized by Act 89.

(c) The program budget plan shall include a detailed description of activities planned to accomplish the purposes mandated by Act 89. This description shall include, but is not limited to objectives, activities, affected student population, and amount of funds allotted to meet such objective.

(d) The intermediate unit shall not expend more than 6.0% of the allocation it receives for administration nor more than 18% for rental of facilities. Funds not expended for administration or rental may be used for Act 89 auxiliary services.
